Talk about money

Japan is getting more expensive

- Tax free shopping is going away November 2026 That is 10% off everything!
- Kyoto already has dual-pricing for tourists
- On the way to introduce an accommodation tax up to ¥10,000 (~€55)
- Visa fees rising (for non Dutchies)

Changes Are Coming to Tax-Free Shopping in Japan

March 17, 2025 | JNTO - Japan National Tourism Organization

From November 1, 2026, the tax-free shopping system for inbound visitors to Japan will be revised, shifting to a refund-based system.

Under the current system, visitors who make purchases at designated stores are automatically exempted from the 10% consumption tax at the point of purchase upon presenting their passport.

The screenshot shows the AndyB Travels website. The header features a logo with the text "AndyB Travels" and a "0" icon. The navigation bar includes links for "Home", "En Route Blog", "News", "About", "Ride the Rails Podcast", "DiscoverByRail", and "#AllTheLinesEU". There are also dropdown menus for "Travel Resources", "Contact", "AndyB in the Media", "Explore", and "Hidden Rail Gems". The main content area has a dark background with a red and black illustration of a traditional Japanese building. A search bar with a "0" icon is visible. Below the search bar, the text "JAPAN / NEWS / PUBLIC TRANSPORT" is displayed. A featured article titled "Kyoto Considers Dual Pricing on Public Transport" by Andy B is shown, published on February 16, 2025. The article discusses Kyoto's plan to introduce dual pricing on public transport to combat overtourism. A "SHARE" button with a Twitter icon is located in the bottom right corner.

Kyoto Considers Dual Pricing on Public Transport

BY ANDY B · PUBLISHED FEBRUARY 16, 2025 · UPDATED FEBRUARY 16, 2025

The Japanese city of Kyoto is looking to introduce a dual pricing system on its public transport network, charging tourists more than locals to help tackle overtourism.

So what's included?

- Round-trip flights
- Hostel accommodation with private bathrooms
- Location in the middle of Tokyo
- Company visits & university tour
- Day trip
- Cherry blossom season

And that all, for:

€1149.99,-
